[REDACTED] note: See [REDACTED], which state that repatriates on board the steamers Ilich and Gogol were informed that their immediate destination was Nahodka (132-53, 42-47).

25X1A

1. At Nahodka a special MVD [Ministry of Internal Affairs] commission will make a final decision as to the ultimate destinations of the repatriates, after a thorough interrogation of each person.
2. It is possible that Komsomolsk [136-58, 50-33] will be the temporary destination of the repatriates after Nahodka, because from Komsomolsk a railway leads through Ekimchan (132-58, 53-05) to the northeast shore of the Sea of Okhotsk; and another railway follows the Amur River to Nikolayevsk (140-40, 53-15), which furnishes easy access to Sakhalin Island.
3. Only a part of the repatriates, including such persons as N. Zafirov, formerly Chairman of the Soviet Citizens' Association in Shanghai, will be later transported to Vladivostok. [?] from Nahodka.
